A Blow From Behind.

"One-way" when things were rather slow in New York City it was just before John L.'s time—said the old pugilist, "we made up a little party and hired a hall in one of the fishing towns not far away. We advertised a prize of $10 for any one who could stay on his feet against our men for five rounds. It was safe money, although when two or three of the boats came in at the same time we had all we could handle."

"But one night a fellow as big as the side of a house came along, and we smelled trouble. We put him up against the heaviest man in our party, who, though he only tipped the scales at 150 pounds, had two good hands and a head that you couldn't hurt with a plectrum. But the stranger was no slouch, and at the end of the fourth round we began to worry about the tinner."

"The ring was on the stage at the front of the hall, and at the rear of the stage there were two windows. So I says to our man as I sponged his mouth, 'Work him over to one of the windows.'"

"It wasn't no easy job, but he did it before time was half up, and as he duffer backed up near the window he got a crack in the head from behind that dumped him in a heap. That's the way we saved our ten."

"But the funny part of it is that our champion had caught the local guy on the jaw the same moment, and we could never persuade him that it wasn't himself that secured the knockout."—New York Sun.

An Animated Parcel.

Duncan Ross, the Scotch athlete, brought to New York with him some years ago a valuable bull terrier, famous for the blue ribbons he had won in India. Mr. Ross lived across the Harlem river, but his business took him daily to the lower part of New York. Invariably he was accompanied to his office by the bull terrier. As it was known that he always came down town on the elevated railroad, his friends wondered, knowing the embargo placed upon dogs, how he procured transit for the bull terrier.

His repeated questioning finally persuaded him to reveal the secret, and he invited them all to the office one evening just as he was starting for home. He took out of his desk a stout piece of wrapping paper and, opening it out flat, spread it on the floor. Then he whistled to the dog, and the bull terrier walked to the center of the paper and curled up in a lump like Mr. Ross then produced a piece of stout cord and made a very neat parcel of his pet and tucked it under his arm.

"I have carried this parcel up and down town for two years," he said, "and no one has ever had the faintest suspicion of its animated contents. Clive is so well trained that he never makes a sound or moves a muscle. I leave a little opening at one end of the package, so that he has plenty of air."

The Eagle and the Turkey.

The turkey is our great national bird. Instead of the eagle, which I don't take much stock in. Turkeys are good to eat. Eagles are only fit to put as stamps on coin. The eagle is a ravenous, vicious thief. There is nothing braver or good about the eagle. The eagle cannot be tamed and is of no earthly use to any one anywhere at any time or place. A hawk is braver than the eagle. If the eagle had the courage in proportion to his size of the sparrow, he would be a wonder.

It was a mistake—a sad, pitiful blunder—to make the eagle our national bird. And a movement should be put on foot now to place the turkey on our coins and remove the eagle from where he has no business to be. A bird so useless should not be worshipped as the eagle is. The turkey is a handsome and in every way a better bird. On all holiday occasions the turkey is our foremost fowl and furnishes the most abundant of delicious food. Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays would be lonesome without the turkey.—Practical Poultryman.

Called His Papa Down.

Little Willy is a bright boy and a saucy boy. His apt answers have often turned away wrath and often turned it upon him strongly. The other day his father was reprimanding him for some misdeed, and Willy was answering very saucily.

The father became very angry and, seizing the youngster by the collar, said: "See here, young man, you must not talk like that to me. I never gave my father impudence when I was a boy."

Willy was not fazed at all. With a cherubic smile he looked into papa's eyes and said: "But, papa, maybe your father didn't need it." "Twice all off. Willy escaped punishment, while papa retired to another room.—Albany Journal.

In Trouble.

Mrs. Turtle-dove—Do you know, dear, I'm afraid Harry does not love me the way he used to.

Mrs. Kissme—You do not mean to say he is cross to you?

Mrs. Turtle-dove—No, but he says that he is hankering for a square meal that he'll starve to death if he does not get away from a chafing dish diet before long. And he used to be so enthusiastic over the things I cooked in the chafing dish when he came to see me! Men are so changeable!—Boston Transcript.

LEGAL NOTICES.

VIRGINIA.—In the Clerk's Office of the Corporation Court of the City of Alexandria, on the 1st day of August, 1901.

Edward A. Gorman, who was in his own right, and as administrator of Benjamin F. Thompson, deceased, and all other creditors who will come in and contribute to the costs of this suit, vs. The Merchants' Railway Building and Loan Association, Thomas Most, John T. Wilkin and Thomas J. Fannon, trustees, Hannan Stafford and Catherine Smith and the unknown heirs, if any, of Benjamin F. Thompson, deceased. In Chancery.

Memo. The object of this suit is to enforce the lien of the complainant for professional services, to convert the creditors of the late Benjamin F. Thompson for sale of the real estate and payment of the debts due by the late Benjamin F. Thompson, and a distribution thereof, and to settle the accounts of Edward A. Gorman as administrator.

It appearing by an affidavit filed in this cause that the defendants Hannan Stafford and Catherine Smith and the unknown heirs, if any, of Benjamin F. Thompson, deceased, are non-residents of this State, it is ordered that said defendants appear within fifteen days after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the City of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this city.

COAL AND WOOD

BY ELEVATING THE QUALITY of our coal we lower the price in economy of consumption. Consumers will find that it is cheaper to use our high grade Loo Coal, that has been screened and freed from slate and stone, than that of an inferior grade. It gives more heat, less ashes and burns longer than any other coal, and our prices are as low as any. Coal and Wood under cover.
